

New platform signals commitment of bio-based industries and regions in advancing European bioeconomy

The Bio-based Industries Consortium (BIC), Europe's leading industry association putting circularity, innovation and sustainability at the heart of the European bioeconomy, has partnered with the European Committee of Regions (CoR) to develop a new partnering platform [1] to connect the bio-based industries and European regions.

Around fifty European regions [2] currently participate in the platform, representing a broad geographical diversity of regions from the north, south, west and the east of Europe
